

furutech Cables'n Cords

"...The quality of silence between and around the notes -- the level of black if you will -- is indicative of that. It's not an artificial deep-space vacuum silence but something that makes it easy to hear the otherwise subliminal stuff. This ease of far smaller attention demands contributes to the flavor of naturalness that listening with the Furutech cables offers. You're relaxed and things come to you of their own accord.

Final verdict? The Furutech cables are for the mature listener who's beyond flash and not easily impressed. This listener is into balance, scale and the kind of bird's-eye hear-everything-at-once perspective that neither misses the leaf for the tree nor the forest for the trees. That's a good perspective, neither in your face nor too distant.

Furutech'd all out, the aforementioned scale of things really compounded to go quite beyond what individual constituents -- just the interconnects or speaker cables, for example -- pulled off. Once it's Furutech from beginning to end, the spatial and size benefits are unmistakable. This only reiterates the underlying leitmotif of this review. Shielding from and against noise pollution in cables has become more important than ever - and Furutech has developed a very powerful yet elegant antidote it seems. Bravo....."

Srajan Ebaen, 6moons, April 2006

Read the entire review here:

<http://www.6moons.com/audioreviews/furutech4/cables.html>