Reference III Alpha interconnect and speaker cables

“...I'll just cut to the chase and tell you that my initial impression of Furutech Reference III Alpha cables are that they are a sonic leap forward!

Upon adding the second Furutech interconnect between the BC 21.1 and the Sonic Frontier' Power 1 (55-watts) the sound space opened up considerably, with the proverbial 'raising the curtain' effect. With all Furutech interconnects in the system it was a special listening event.

I remember the first time I heard the Halcro amplifier demonstration (with the Eggleston Works 'Rose' speakers) at the 2000 CES. We were ushered into a large room with chairs set up in rows like a theater and once they were filled the door was closed, and we were asked to be very quiet and listen. Wow, there were things happening in the CDs that made the music incredibly life-like and I never forgot it. With all of the Furutechs installed they bring that kind of realism to my system...”
